

Dong Xu 3Axle Box Semi Trailer

Dong Xu 3Axle Box Semi Trailer boasts several specialized features designed to enhance loading and unloading efficiency. Additionally, a rainproof canopy and roof panel are riveted on top, creating a fully sealed cargo box that offers robust protection against rain, dust, and environmental elements, ensuring the safety of the transported goods.

The trailer also incorporates closed-side protective railings, which significantly mitigate lateral risks at high speeds and contribute to reduced energy consumption. The rear protection is equipped with well-designed pushcart accessories for ease of operation. Some models feature a rectangular pipe structure for the side panels, with riveted skin on both sides, providing enhanced strength and rigidity to effectively absorb cargo impacts. When cargo does not exceed the height of the side panels, the trailer can function as a standard cargo vehicle, accommodating a wide range of transportation needs.

With its sleek and modern design, the trailer also offers space on the side panels for advertisements, helping users promote their businesses effectively.

It is versatile enough to transport a broad spectrum of goods, including household appliances, light textiles, sand and gravel, coal, and other building materials. It can also carry various items such as automotive parts, paper products, home appliances, clothing, chemicals, beverages, and food.
